God Makes Himself Known (through His Church)

Acts 2:1-13

- God comes to his people

- God can now be with his people

- God makes himself known through his people

Discussion Questions:

1. When you think or talk about your relationship with God, who ends up being more active in it: you or God? (i.e. Who ends up sounding like they're the one who reaches out more to the other?)

2. Not only does God pursue his people, but he now fills them with his Spirit.

    a. How does this reality give you hope in your ongoing struggles with sin?

    b. How does this reality help you realize how much you have to rely on him to live a new life?

    c. Which do you tend to need more of: hope or reliance? Take a moment to ask him for what you need.

3. God's spirit works in the lives of his people, in part, to make God known through them.

    a. Can you remember a time when what his Spirit did in someone else astonished you? Bewildered you? Caused you to be curious about what might be happening?

    b. Have there been times that you can share when God has made himself known to others by what he was doing in you?

    c. Take some time—individually or with others—to ask the Holy Spirit to draw other people to be interested in knowing more about Christ through his work in your life.
